IN HER WORDS

CARMEN

“In 2016, I convinced my mom to enroll me at Pace. My goal was to graduate from high school but that dream felt out of reach. I’d always had the academic ability, but I had stopped going to school because of severe panic attacks. At Pace, I was finally able to get back on track in a supportive environment where I received the counseling I needed to overcome my anxiety. After graduating, I continued my education and graduated from USF with a degree in criminology. I will always be so grateful for the support they gave me — and still do.”

The program is demanding and requires participants to set goals and hold themselves accountable daily. Through hard work and commitment, these young women develop leadership skills and foster a culture of kindness. Most importantly, they learn to believe in themselves, providing a path to limitless potential."
