“ When Lana enrolled at Pace, she was on the brink of dropping out. With only a few credits and no motivation, Lana feared graduation was impossible. She faced so many challenges in her life, it was difficult to prioritize school. At Pace, Lana received the support she needed to work through her difficulties. She learned to cope with overwhelming emotions creating space to prioritize her academics. Through PaceWorks Lana learned more about her career interests, she toured colleges and universities and set her sights on a goal of becoming a nurse. Two years after enrolling at Pace, Lana proudly walked across the stage with the class of 2023. She will be studying nursing at a local college.

“ All of us have benefited from someone who has helped us, believed in us, and inspired us. Sometimes that is a family member, a friend, or an organization like Pace. Pace is a special place for young women to receive that support. As a board member, I continue to be impressed by the positive impact our organization has on young women and our community.
