KIMBERLEE

When Kimberlee came to Pace Collier, she was very closed off, irritable, and angry. Her mother and grandfather had recently passed away and her father was in jail. She did not want to talk to anyone or participate in class. She slowly started opening up to her counselor last summer and they have created a strong partnership. She has become more focused, dedicated to her schoolwork, and improved her attitude. “I never thought I would go to therapy but here I am. Pace has helped me find my confidence and motivation in life. I had suicidal thoughts before meeting our therapist, Ms. Jama. I talked to her and she helped me. I don’t talk to many people about my personal life but I talk to her. Don’t give up yet, life has just started.”
