CENTER FOR GIRLS, INC.

ANNUAL REPORT 2002-2003

What Is Life Like For A Typical PACE Girl?

She is 14 years old, with a parent who is likely to be seriously ill, deceased or absent due to incarceration. Her home has been either uprooted, abusive, or dysfunctional due to mental illness. She suffers from an emotional or mental health disorder, has abused drugs or alcohol, and is sexually active. She is in the ninth grade, but reads on a 7th-grade level and is nearly 3 years behind in math. She skips classes and is chronically truant. She has been suspended from school, is failing one or more classes, and has been held back or failed a grade.

Before & After

Following an average enrollment of 9 months, she is living in a more secure home. There are fewer abuse reports and family disturbances. She is focusing her energies on working, volunteering, and school assignments. Her use of alcohol and drugs are almost non-existent, and she is not running away. She has been promoted a full grade level, increased her grade point average, earned credits or completed academic courses. Most importantly, she has her life back on track and does not end up in the juvenile justice system. Her future is full of possibilities.

Dear Friends,

In the PACE 2003 Literary Magazine, Natalie, age 13, wrote,

PACE has changed my life drastically.

PACE is a place where you feel safe.

PACE is my second home.

However, the story of PACE is not just one girl's story. It is also the story of adults caring about girls. This year as we faced challenges with tightening state budgets and uncertainty, we were inspired by the commitment of our supporters throughout Florida and the nation.

The outpouring of unprecedented support resulted in the fulfillment of another successful year. We witnessed a significant decrease in girls suffering from life challenges such as physical, emotional and sexual abuse. This helped 93 percent avoid the juvenile justice system and 94 percent improve academically.

We expanded our programming to serve younger girls ages 8-11. Our newest program, the PACE Pre-Teen Center, is a national model for "tween" girls. We learned from our teen girls the need for intervening early.

Nationally and in local Florida communities, we increased our training and advocacy efforts aimed at promoting girl responsive services by creating new partnerships with businesses, agencies and individuals.

As we face the uncertainty of today's environment, we are committed to providing quality services with a high degree of accountability. All PACE Centers have earned deemed or special deemed quality assurance ratings by the Florida Department of Juvenile Justice. Ninety-two percent of every dollar invested in PACE is spent on direct services to girls and their families.

PACE Center for Girls, Inc. celebrates an incredible year of growth and outstanding support. Like each girl's own strength, resiliency and courage, ours knows no limits. PACE is resolute in our commitment to being the national voice for girls.

PACE GENERATES A PORTRAIT OF RISK PROFILE

Who is a PACE girl? She is often defined as at-risk, troubled, or even challenged. The traditional definitions of risk do not accurately reflect the risks that are unique to girls. To better understand and communicate what life is like for our girls, PACE created the Portraits of Risk profile. It captures a sobering snapshot of what life is like for our young girls.

Family Instability and Conflict:

- 20% have an incarcerated parent
- 60% live in single-parent households
- 75% live in low or very low-income homes

Victimization

- 32% have documented instances of child abuse or neglect
- 15% have been raped

Health Risks

- 33% have had suicide ideations
- 44% have mental health disorders
- 55% are sexually active at an early age
- 44% are self-medicating with addictive substances

School Failure

- 53% are 2-3 years behind in reading skills
- 63% are 2-3 years behind in math skills
- 50% missed over 21 days of school last year
- 60% have been expelled or suspended

BUILDING

DR. ZACH ZACHARIAH INSTRUMENTAL IN FUNDING TEEN CENTER FACILITY

Dr. Zach Zachariah (left) has been a supporter, contributor and advocate for PACE and our girls since joining the Broward Advisory Board in 1993. Throughout the years, he has given generously of his time, talents and treasures. He introduced PACE to many of the key leaders and philanthropists in the Broward community and has personally given over $600,000 to PACE Broward. Mr. Robert Radice, State Board of Trustees Member and Chair of the Broward Center's Building, Development and Capital Campaign Committees, states, "Dr. Zachariah is one of my closest friends, and PACE is blessed to have him as a friend and supporter."

Dr. Zachariah is an innovator in cardiac medicine and an award-winning community supporter. We at PACE are very proud to have all visitors to PACE Broward's Leo Goodwin Campus pass through the doors of the Zachariah Family Building.

PACE BEGINS WORK WITH "TWEEN" POPULATION

In response to the growing number of younger girls entering the Juvenile Justice system, PACE Center for Girls, Inc. opened a Pre-Teen Center at our Broward location in August 2002. In the first year we experienced very promising results. Modeled after the successful PACE Teen Center, the "Tween" center addresses, in a holistic manner, the therapeutic, social and educational needs of young girls through:

- Counseling services to improve family relations and develop the girls' coping, decision-making and goal-setting skills
- Psycho-educational groups that deal with pre-adolescent development
- Intensive academic instruction in small classes where individual remediation takes place

THE VALUE OF PACE TO THE COMMUNITY

PACE creates safe environments that foster growth, and then incredible things happen. This year's success statistics tell the story of what can happen when PACE enters girls' lives.

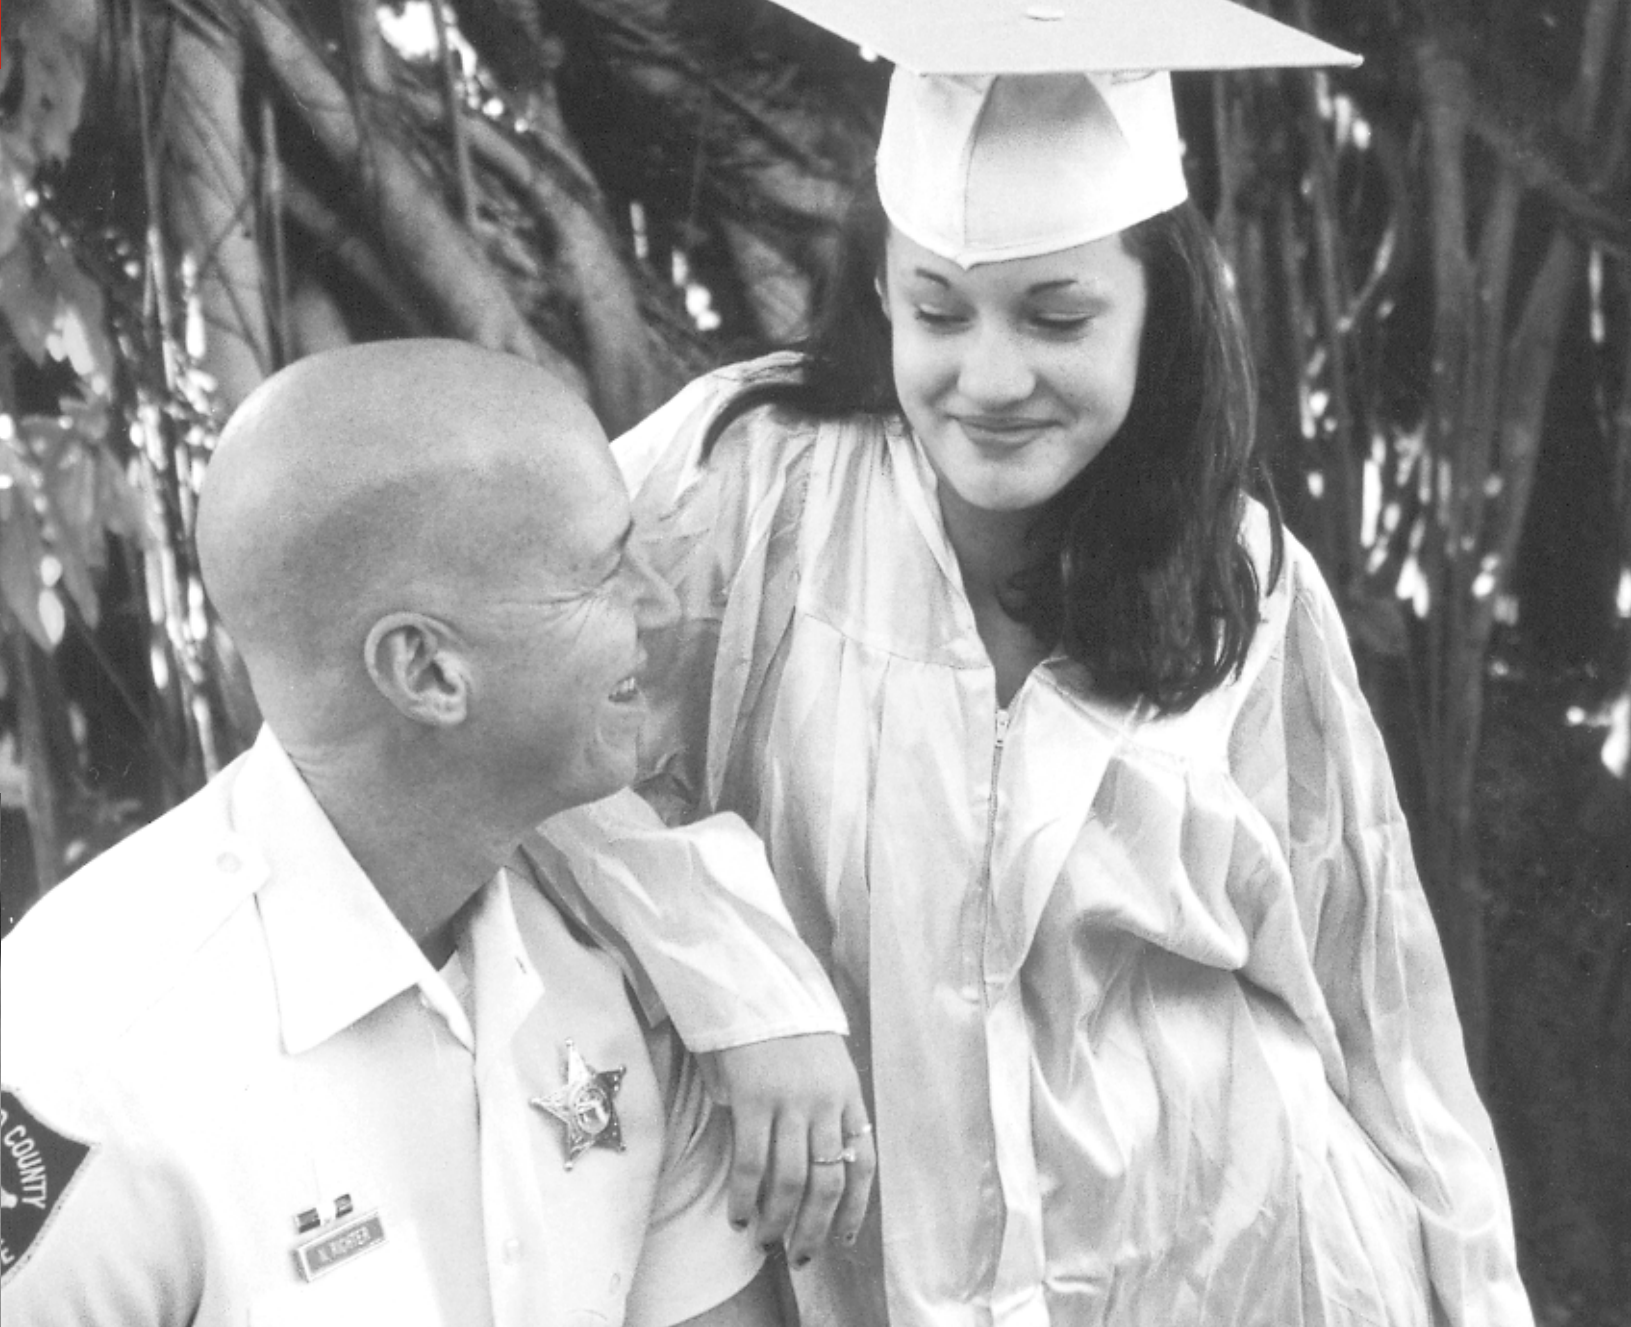

- 1,380 improved their academic performance
- 1,013 no longer experience physical abuse
- 1,325 no longer experience emotional abuse
- 1,133 no longer experience sexual abuse
- 1,386 no longer exhibit runaway behavior
- 1,560 no longer use drugs
- 1,196 no longer use alcohol

Based on Outcome Measure Evaluation Report 02-03

Improvement in any one of these areas is one more step toward a life as a responsible, productive citizen.

93% of girls remained free of juvenile justice involvement while at PACE (2003 DJJ reporting of 2000-01 FY data).

PACE CAMPAIGNS ACROSS FLORIDA TO BUILD AWARENESS OF ITS CRITICAL MISSION

Our dynamic 30-second spot, Don't Close the Door On Us, highlighted the key issues facing our girls and put them dramatically in the face of Florida's public. The piece, designed to underscore the victimization and risks that are pervasive in the girls' lives, positioned PACE as the answer to these challenges.

Upon discovering that only 30% of Florida's voters understood that girls were the fastest-growing segment of the juvenile justice population, PACE launched a much needed awareness and advocacy campaign to highlight this important issue.

From the Keys to Pensacola, newspapers, television and radio stations were discussing the issues of girls in the juvenile justice system. Testimonials and our success statistics created awareness within the public that, when partnered with PACE, girls can be guided to find the incredible strength and courage required to turn their lives around and create a new path to success.

We thank the many volunteers and supporters who helped to initiate this awareness campaign and contributed to its efforts.

What they are saying about PACE training and consultation services

“This past year we decided to answer the call for dramatically increasing programs for young female offenders. We reached for the nationally renowned expertise and experience of PACE Center for Girls. We believe, with their help, we will succeed at giving back many of our young females their lives, family, community, and their dreams!”

- Senator Joseph Rocks, Northwestern Human Services, Pennsylvania

“There is a general misconception that you cannot conduct positive, constructive programming in secure detention centers. With PACE’s help, we have created positive active female programming in our centers. PACE has no peer when it comes to training people on how to work with young females.”

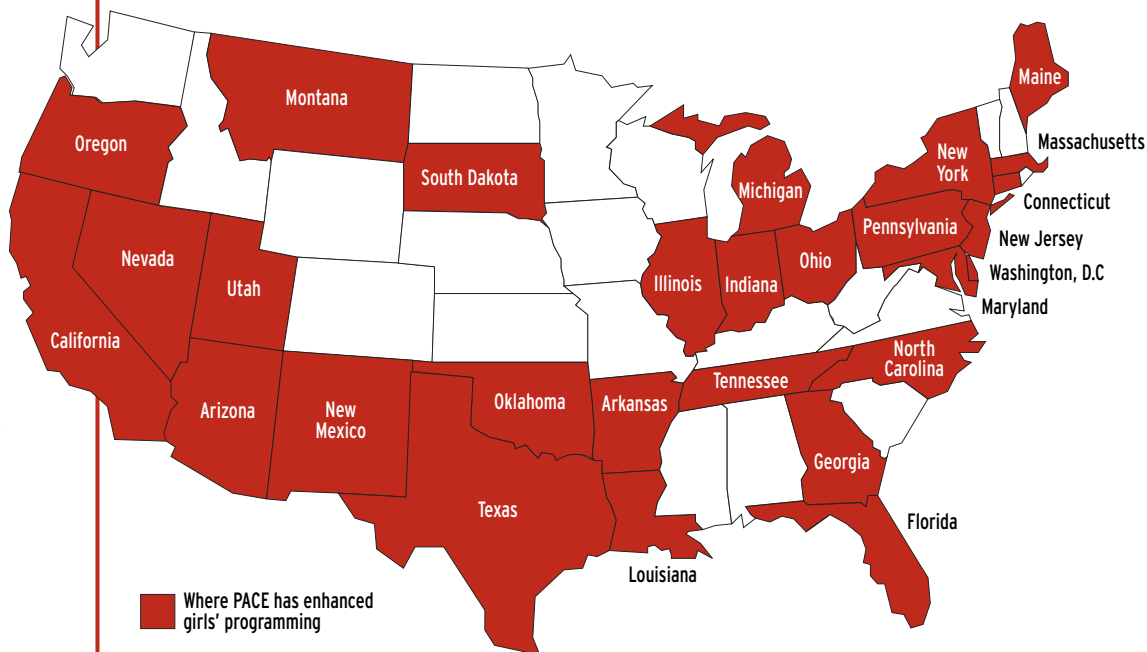

- Joel DeVolentine, Regional Director, Florida Department of Juvenile Justice

Nationally, in programs large and small, the challenge of working with adolescent girls is ever present. This year we have expanded our efforts to train and consult with organizations who are interested in expanding their capacity to provide gender-responsive programming for at-risk girls.

Over the past decade, our research-based practices, coupled with the experience of successfully serving more than 10,000 girls in Florida, has earned PACE a nationwide reputation as the premier program for meeting the unique needs of at-risk adolescent girls.

We have successfully worked with all levels of services, from prevention to incarceration, and partnered with state governments, not-for-profits and for-profit organizations across the nation. This year the federal Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention named PACE to their pool of expert consultants.

PACE CONTINUES TO EXPAND ITS REACH BEYOND FLORIDA

PACE GIRLS AND SUPPORTERS COME TOGETHER IN ADVOCACY EFFORTS

First Annual Girls Rally Honors Women's History Month in Tallahassee

The voices of girls were loud and strong in March 2003 as more than 500 girls, staff and supporters gathered to honor Women's History Month on the steps of Florida's capital. In collaboration with Associated Marine Institute, Florida Network of Runaway Services, and the Florida Juvenile Justice Association, the group rallied together to draw attention to the contributions of women in America's history. Key public leaders spoke about their commitment to girls and the programs that serve them in the state of Florida.

State-wide Leadership Conference Solidifies Commitment to Mission

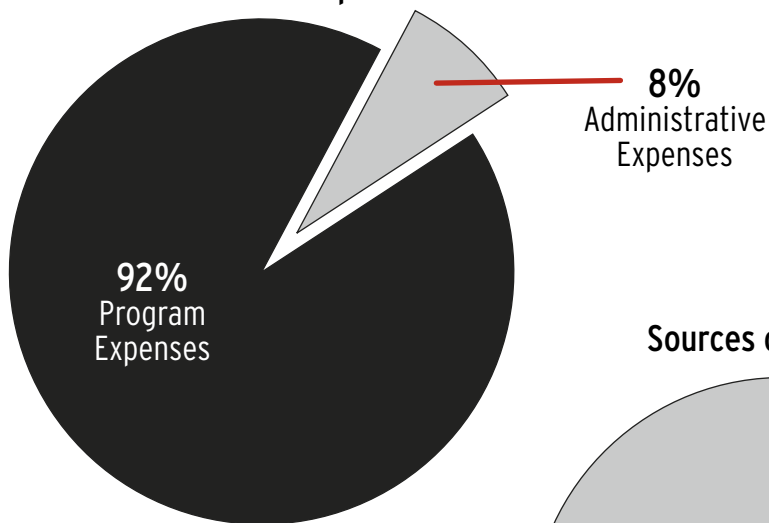

PACE held its first Annual Leadership Conference, which drew staff and board members from across the state. At this event, designed to foster synergy and ignite passion for the mission of PACE, more than 70 board members from PACE centers rallied to celebrate girls, their unbelievable strengths and an organization that is making a critical difference in the lives of thousands of girls annually.

PACE Produces Guide for Community Advocates

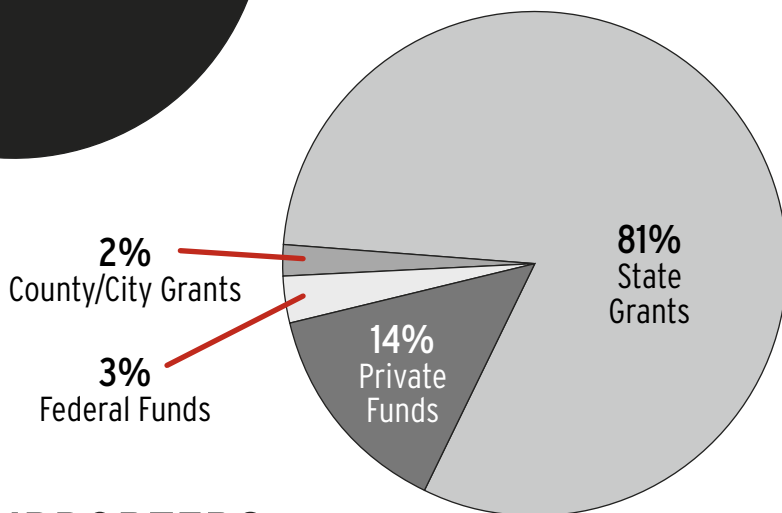

As the culmination of a two-year grant from the Allegany Franciscan Foundation, PACE produced an advocates' guide for mobilizing communities to address the needs of at-risk girls. It is available as a part of our training and technical assistance.

OUR SUPPORTERS - THEY MAKE IT HAPPEN

At no other time in PACE's history did we experience the breadth and depth of those who are committed to our mission than this past year. Whether it was the gift of time, money or talents, those who believe in PACE made their presence known. We thank them for their contributions.

Our financial picture continues to be solid, and we are proud of our efficiencies. Our operating revenue was $17.88K. This represents a 1% increase in private funding that is attributable to the launch of the Believing in Girls Giving Society, a new fundraising initiative. Only 8% of our expenses were dedicated to administrative costs, which is a testimony to the dedication of our staff and supporters.

Here are just a few ways to be a supporter of PACE:

- Educate local leaders about girls in the juvenile justice system and the need for prevention programming that meets their very specific needs.
- Visit Pacecenter.org and learn about the toll violence and victimization takes on girls. Speak out and get others to listen.
- Make a commitment to the long-term future of PACE by considering a planned gift. Please call 1-800-705-PACE, ext. 140 for more information.
- Visit or volunteer at your local PACE center and see first-hand this nationally recognized model of girls programming.
